Back to the website, if the value of the “Download Required” column is “Yes”, search the name of the file in the page and download it. You should use the “Filtrar por palabra clave” search box to help narrow down the results.

The screenshot shows the ONPE website interface. At the top, there is a red header with the 'gob.pe' logo and a search bar labeled 'Buscar en ONPE'. Below the header, a breadcrumb trail reads 'Inicio > El Estado > ONPE > Informes y publicaciones'. The main section is titled 'Todos los informes y publicaciones'. It features three filters: 'Filtrar por tipo de publicación' (a dropdown menu), 'Filtrar por palabra clave' (a search box), and 'Ordenar por:' (a dropdown menu set to 'Más recientes primero'). Below these filters, two document entries are listed. The first entry is 'Formulario P2 - Excusa o Justificación' with a description and a '3 de agosto de 2022' date, accompanied by a 'Descargar' button. The second entry is 'Cuando las afiliadas y los afiliados votan: Elecciones Internas 2020 y 2021' with a description and a '25 de julio de 2022' date, also accompanied by a 'Descargar' button. Red circles are drawn around the titles of both documents and their respective 'Descargar' buttons.

After downloading all the files, create a new Excel file called “Results.xlsx”. The file should have two columns, “File Name” and “Amount of Pages”. For each file downloaded fill the name of the file and the amount of pages it has.

Finally, if any of the files downloaded have more than 50 pages, create a txt file called “Results.txt”. Write a line with the name of each of the files that matched the condition. Use a separator to distinguish each line.
